

This is the latest attempt at a comprehensive description of Ayeri, a personal, a priori fictional-language project started in 2003. By approaching the discussion of its grammar from a scholarly angle, Ayeri is one of the most thoroughly documented constructed languages grown from the internet's language-creation community to date.

Carsten Becker is currently working as a Ph.D. student and research assistant at the University of Marburg's Medieval German Philology department.

"I would have no problem seeing [Matt Pearson's] Okuna as a nat[ural]lang[uage]. Same with Ayeri."

— William S. Annis
Host, Conlangery Podcast, on Conlang-L

"For those not familiar with Ayeri, very worth checking out."

— @FiatLingua
Language Creation Society on Twitter

"To date, the best languages ever created were not created for television or movies, but were created just for the joy of it—languages like [...] Ayeri"

— David J. Peterson
Author, 'The Art of Language Creation'
Language inventor, HBO's 'Game of Thrones'

ISBN 978-3-123456-78-7

9 783123 456787

$16.95 (US)

ayeri.de

Becker A Grammar of Ayeri

Benung. The Ayeri
Language Resource

Carsten Becker

A Grammar of Ayeri

Documenting a fictional language